

IMPACT

Disability Sport & Recreation Initiative

DISABILITY SPORT
& RECREATION

IMPACT is an experiential workplace education program, designed to increase the understanding of what it's like to live with disability.

We have been educating the community on disability for over a decade through our WheelTalk Program and other initiatives, using sport and recreation as a medium.

IMPACT is a unique learning opportunity for all staff. IMPACT presenters each share their personal stories of disability, leaving attendees with a greater understanding of not only disability, but the role that sport and recreation can play in anyone's life.

IMPACT will complement your organisation's operational and strategic goals and can be used in a number of ways:

- As part of your induction programs
- To launch workplace OH&S, diversity or equal opportunity policies
- For professional development of staff communicating with people with disability
- As an inclusive team building activity
- To improve understanding of disability

IMPACT can be tailored to your needs, delivered off-site, online or at your workplace. For further information or to book call 03 9473 0133 or email wheeltalk@dsr.org.au